Timberland Regional Library Location Updates

Mountain View Timberland Library.

On Wednesday, September 26, 2018, Timberland Regional Library's Board of Trustees voted unanimously at their monthly board meeting to extend the lease for the building the library district occupies in Mountain View (Randle) through October 31, 2019.

TRL's Board of Trustees is responsible for making decisions related to library service points. TRL leadership and its Board of Trustees are committed to ensuring that every community we serve receives timely communication, and all feedback from our communities is considered in recommendations and processes today and in the future.

Hoquiam Timberland Library.

Closed for renovation & repair starting October 11, 2018

The library will be closed for about six weeks, with an anticipated re-opening after Thanksgiving. The book drop will remain open for returns, and holds will be available at the Aberdeen Timberland Library.

The $1 million project will include improvements including exterior and interior painting, new windows, new energy efficient lighting, more electrical outlets, new carpet, ADA compliant doors, and heating and ventilation improvements. The renovation is funded by a Community Development Block Grant by the Department of Commerce, a capital budget appropriation by the State Legislature, along with grants and private donations.

Microsoft Imagine Academy

Changes to Microsoft Imagine Academy Availability

The Microsoft Imagine Academy learning platform was retired on September 30, 2018. Their replacement platform does not work well in the public library setting for individual learners so will no longer be available through Timberland Regional Libraries.

Timberland's access to Microsoft Imagine Academy was made possible through a statewide program managed by the Washington State Library (WSL). During the next year, Timberland patrons seeking learning materials for the MOS (Microsoft Office Specialist) and MTA (Microsoft Technology Associate) exams will be able to access content at a new website at the WSL. These will not be online learning courses, but OneNote files, virtual "binders" containing a combination of videos and text materials that support a single exam or topic. There will be fewer courses available than what was included in Microsoft Imagine Academy and no progress tracking, but learners will not have to login with a Microsoft account to access the content.

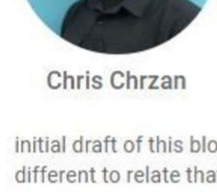

The current link to Microsoft Imagine Academy on the TRL website will be updated to this content once it is in place. Learners are also encouraged to sign up for Lynda.com, which includes many video tutorials on Microsoft products. There are also books in the library collection available for check out on the various certification exams.

No changes are planned for the current Microsoft Office Specialist certification testing offered at Aberdeen, Chehalis, Naselle, North Mason, and Tumwater libraries.

#2 - Saint Anthony

I was once asked in a job interview who I would switch lives with were I magically given the opportunity to do so. Unlike many such "creative" questions where I tend to draw a blank, the answer sprang to mind immediately: Anthony Bourdain. I wrote that sentence, and finished up an initial draft of this blog post, the day before learning of his death so it feels different to relate that anecdote now. In the eighteen years since Kitchen Confidential made him famous and lead to countless episodes of what is essentially the same (excellent) TV series ad infinitum, he never appeared to get comfortable. His drive to continue learning, growing, and exploring was and remains inspiring to me and countless others plugged into the world of food, eating, and travel.

I feel personally inadequate to the task of eulogizing him. For that I would refer you to Eddie Huang writing for Rolling Stone or Kim Ghattas in The Atlantic whose tributes do well at capturing the towering persona Bourdain was. I'm here in the mortal realm merely to give you some cookbook
